

Lindsey Filowitz

Video chat is the correspondence of our time - an era that has both socially stifled and technologically tightened the bounds of conversation. A 50-part series featuring 50 different Democrats from 50 different states, we learn not only diverging issues of importance and opinion within the party, but of cultural and climatory distinctions bound by territory lines. What it means to be from the United States of America is many many things, and this piece is an attempt to provide space for the voices that demand regime change towards a more equitable future.

Lindsey Filowitz (b. 1989, Brooklyn, NY) is an image-based media and installation artist, photographer, performer and illustrator. Her work has exhibited in San Francisco, New York, and Los Angeles, as well as internationally throughout the United Kingdom. She received her BFA in Photography from Bard College in 2011. Lindsey currently lives and works in Oakland, CA.

<http://www.lindseyfilowitz.com/donkey-talks>